High-Class Portraits.

Men and women are judged by the expression and modeling of the face, and the operator must necessarily be a good judge of human nature, to take anything from the delineation of a good face is doing the individual an injustice. A good photographer must be careful in the composition of a portrait, for the camera cannot tell a lie. Mr. Davey guarantees a perfect photograph.

THE CAREER OF EX-GOVERNOR FLOWER.

(Literary Digest.)

Ex-Governor Roswell P. Flower, who died the other day, began his business experience when he was eighteen years old. His first employment was as salesman in the dry goods store of E. D. Woodward, in Philadelphia. That lasted for two months, when his employer failed. Young Flower returned then to his mother's home, in Theresa, where he spent the spring and summer at work on the farm. In August, 1853, he began clerking in a hardware store in Watertown, the county seat, leaving that position in a month to become deputy postmaster of the place. For six years he held that office, receiving as salary $50 a month and board. It was one of his favorite reminiscences of more prosperous times that the first $50 he received was invested in a gold watch, which, yielding to his trading instincts, he sold to a man who afterwards went West, giving his note for $53, which Mr. Flower never collected. Out of the slender salary of $600 a year Mr. Flower saved $1,000 in the course of his six years' service. With his savings he purchased a half interest in a jewelry store, the firm being Hitchcock & Flower. His financial genius soon told, and two years later he bought out his partner, and enlarged the business in which he continued until 1869. In 1869 Henry Keep, who had married Miss Emma Woodruff, a sister of Mrs. Flower, was on his deathbed. Three weeks before he died, Mr. Keep asked Mr. Flower to come to New York. Mr. Keep had been President of the New York Central, and Treasurer of the Michigan, Southern, and Lake Shore railroads, and was then President of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway.

It was not until 1881 that Mr. Flower became prominent in politics. In the interval between 1869 and that year, he was busy accumulating the fortune that led later to his prominence in the financial world. He had always been an active Democrat, and had served as Chairman of the County Committee of Jefferson county. He was a friend of Samuel J. Tilden, of his first meeting with whom this story is told by the historians of his political career. Mr. Tilden was making a trip through the State when Mr. Flower met him one day on the train. Mr. Tilden expressed admiration for the Jefferson county organization. Mr. Flower explained that its efficiency was due to the preponderating influence of the young men in the organization, and said to Mr. Tilden that if he hoped to succeed to the chairmanship of the state committee in the following year he must afflilate with the younger element of the party.

"You do not seem to recognize the fact, Mr. Tilden, that a man under fifty years of age has any influence in politics," said Mr. Flower, to the amazement of the listeners, who were not accustomed to hearing the true situation bluntly put to Mr. Tilden. "The young men control the party," continued the young Watertown man, "and you must extend your acquaintance among them or be prepared to give up the leadership."

The veteran politician, contrary to the expectations of those who knew him, was impressed with Mr. Flower's remarks, and replied that he was anxious to make the acquaintance of young men. At Mr. Flower's suggestion, Mr. Allen C. Beach of Watertown was sent for by Mr. Tilden. Mr. Beach went to Mr. Tilden's house and spent two or three weeks in extending the reorganization throughout the State. Hence rose the famous "Tilden organization." In 1877, as chairman of the Democratic state committee, Mr. Flower managed the campaign with signal success.

In 1881, Mr. Flower represented the 11th New York district in Congress. He was again elected in 1888. In 1891 he was elected governor, defeating J. Sloat Fassett, the Republican candidate.

WOULD NOT SUFFER SO AGAIN FOR FIFTY TIMES ITS PRICE.

I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I came down to work this morning I felt so weak I could hardly work. I went to Miller & McCurdy's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me all right. It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my home hereafter, for I should not care to endure the sufferings of last night again for fifty times its price.—G. H. Wilson, Liverman, Burgettstown, Washington Co., Pa.
